FIG. 3 is a block diagram of a system for processing a target page (URL) and a target page (DOM) to generate an adjoining URL list. The system includes a directory common URL selection block (21) and a parent directory common URL selection block (22). The directory common URL selection block (21) receives input from a target page (URL) (6) and a target page (DOM) (6). The parent directory common URL selection block (22) receives input from a target page (DOM) (6). The directory common URL selection block (21) outputs a URL list (20) to a link listing block (19). The link listing block (19) outputs a merge list (23) to a merge list block (23). The merge list block (23) outputs an adjoining URL list (24). The system also includes a URL list block (20) and a link listing block (19).
